ARDBEG, UIGEADAIL 54% £16.20

According to our wine merchant the greatest whisky in the world a bold statement indeed, but we do agree it is very good. The new distillery on Islay, it's young, vibrant with cracking peaty, iodine characters, and then the rich vanillas, and sherry cask influence. Young, but good very good.

THE ISLANDS

Most of these whiskies are tinged by the salinity of the sea, but beyond that, their flavour profiles vary wildly from island to island.

TALISKER, 18 YEARS OLD 46% £21.20

The iconic island distillery. There are younger versions, there are older versions, but the 18-year-old delivers way beyond its years. Intense smoke, and spice tamed by a gentle sweetness and one of the most rounded mouth feels out there.

SCAPA, SKIREN 40% £14.30

With its intermittent production where staff from the neighbouring Highland Park distillery would come over to fire this mothballed distillery to keep it going and to produce a handful of barrels each year, Scapa has always been scarce. Gentle, soft and so unlike a Hebridean style.

Not your normal Glenkinchie here, instead one that has benefitted from a double maturation. With its maturation enhanced by being finished in an amontillado cask, extra nuances of flavour are added to this queen of the lowland's distillery.
